THE HOUSE THAT MAGNUS BUILT

Based in south-western England, architect Magnus Strom's next project takes craft and design to another level, blending domestic design with the ethos of a modern superyacht. "I thought we needed to build houses of the same calibre and for a similarly discerning clientele," he explains. Superhouse is a specialist service that distils clients' desires through the prism of contemporary design, and will result in just 30 elegant glass, stone and concrete villas.
